(a) In paragraph 1, what did the writer enjoy the most about moving the ice blocks the first time he did this?

He enjoyed seeing how slabs slid away from him like eels. [1]

(b) Using your own words, explain what the text means by 'I neglected my other duties.' (line 4)

didn't focus on another task

He didn't focus on any other task. [2]

(c) In paragraph 3, how did the writer feel at first about being in the ice house?

Give two details from the text to support your answer.

writer's feeling He began to shiver.

details : It was the temperature at which water becomes ice.

: The cold felt like a flame and he began shaking from the searing cold.

[3]

(d) Explain what the writer was thinking when he leant against the door and it 'surprisingly swung open'. (lines 13–14)

he didnt expect it to swing open.

He didnot expect the door to swing open as Ahmad had the door tight shut. [1]

(e) From paragraph 5, identify two techniques used by the palace kitchen cooks that the writer thought could be useful to improve the flavour of the ices he is making with Ahmad.

Two ways kitchen cooks improve flavour.

- They pureed fruits to intensify the flavours.
- They extracted perfumes of flowers to flavor creams.

(f) Give two reasons why the secrets of ice had remained 'known to few'. (line 22)

It was only passed down within two familes who served the royal court. Secondly majority of the secret was kept only in Ahmads head. [2]

(g) In paragraph 7, the writer asked Ahmad what the ices they made tasted like.

(i) What reason did the writer give Ahmad for wanting to know? ō excuse

He claimed he will understand better how to make ices if he knew how they tasted. [1]

(ii) Suggest the real reason the writer was asking about the taste of the ices. real reason.

They made ices with tempting syrup of small sweet oranges. [1]

(h) Explain using your own words the writer's different feelings and opinions about Ahmad while he was working for him.
feeling working w/ Ahmad.
Give three details from anywhere in the text to support your answer.

Ahmad was emotionless as "come with me, he said without expression". Ahmad was somewhat paranoid when the writer asked questions "what does it matter? ~~Stir~~ Stir the mixture clockwise". Lastly writers opinion about Ahmad was that Ahmad kept to himself ~~could not see anyone speak positive as~~ "Ahmad kept to himself to ensure that I would always know less than he did." [3]

[Total: 16]

-emotionless.

Question 2

(a) Read this sentence from the text:

'Ice crystals cracked and crunched against my teeth, dissolving on my tongue with a sparkling sensation.' (lines 38–39)

What effect does the writer suggest about the sensation of the crystals dissolving on his tongue by using the word 'sparkling' to describe it?

He suggests that the crystals moved around in his tongue almost as they sparked. Sparkling as in tiny explosions in form of sparks. [2]

(b) Read this extract from the text:

'But, once I'd got over the initial strangeness, I found I could not forget that extraordinary flavour, nor the cold, frozen grittiness. It was as if the ice itself was enticing, daring me on. From then on, without Ahmad knowing, I tasted every ice confection we made.' (lines 43–46)

What does the writer want to suggest to the reader at this point in the story?

He started having an addiction to the ices and showed his more interest in it. [1]

(c) Explain why the writer uses the word 'creature' rather than 'boy' in the expression 'a creature incapable of reason.' (line 48)

Ahmad did not care about who works for him, just if they work for him as writer uses work horse as an example. [1]

(d) What two impressions does the writer want to convey to the reader in the sentence:

'And so I learnt the subtle art of more complex water ices: 'sorbetti', in which the syrups themselves were frozen, transforming magically to mounds of glittering crystals; and 'sherbets', the most difficult and enchanting of all, expertly infused with fragrant cardamom, and resembling refrozen snow.' (lines 50–53)?

He conveys that he had now learnt special techniques only mastered by few. He conveys his dedication to the work trying to create new items by learning new methods. [2]

(e) Identify one example of how the writer uses language effectively to convey his feelings once he begins his double life, in this extract from the text:

'So began a period in which I lived a double life. By day, I followed Ahmad's instructions dutifully. But by night I was a kind of alchemist, the kitchen my laboratory as I experimented wildly, without method or purpose, trying increasingly outlandish and ridiculous combinations of flavours and ingredients. I froze soft cheeses, vegetable juices, even soups, hoping to chance on something – some method, some key – something that could unlock the deepest, frozen secrets of ice cream.' (lines 61–66)

Explain the impression the writer creates in the example you have identified.

example I was a kind of alchemist explanation We referred to him as an alchemist as he made the kitchen into his personal Lab, experimenting and trying to make something which would unlock the secrets of ice creams.

Read Text B, The Authentic Travel company, in the insert and answer Question 3.

Question 3 what Bob thinks can appeal to customers.

(a) Summarise what Bob Hunter thinks would appeal to customers booking a holiday with his travel company, according to Text B.

You must use continuous writing (not note form).

Use your own words as far as possible.

Avoid copying long sections of the text.

Your summary should be no more than 150 words.

Up to 10 marks are available for the content of your answer and up to 10 marks for the quality of your writing.

Bob Hunter co-founded a travelling company known as 'Authentic Travels,'. He sets such active policies that stand out and appeal to people, firstly many people get scared about their security hence tend to not travel; to which Authentic Travels provides hygenic and relaxing guest house without any water or comfort problem including healthcare even if its time taking.

Secondly the company offers freedom to its customers, as the customers won't rot in their rooms yet have opportunity to visit locals and explore the ~~eye catching~~ new and diverse cultures as well as staying in or out of the group as they can join the group however and whenever they please; Moreover which proves eye catching as people can solo travel or join the group which could benefit them, e.g; Renting a boat would be expensive but combined and split between a group would be alot cheaper which hences gives not only more fun but also being light on your wallet.

Thirdly Authentic travels will never let you get isolated, ~~in your~~ as they are an outgoing group guide which will help you experience life outside of the resort as not only that, this company offers extravagent and unique trips based on your liking as the trips they offer range from extreme: visiting europes rail lines to Foodie trips: which also includes tasting and cooking lessons, now who would refuse going some where new and learning how to cook the areas local dishes? Thus these get in ~~demand~~ popular and prove well in demand. [20]

(b) Imagine you are someone who lives in a city and has recently been on holiday at a 'black-hole resort'. You really enjoyed your stay.

You are asked to give feedback about your holiday in a survey.

Give your answer to the survey question, using information from the text.

The survey question: Some people think that a holiday at a 'black-hole resort' would be boring.

What is your opinion and why?

Your answer:

Absolutely not! It mostly depends on who you are asking but for me, a person who lives in a big city, who's day ~~life~~ starts and ends with their phone. The black hole resort was all I needed, I craved an escape from all the social life and wanted to reconnect with myself, to explore a life without cell phone which turned out amazing as I talked to new people, enjoyed their company and did not get bored at all [5]
It's not about handing over your phone and doing nothing for a week, It's about what you can do with mobile phones. [Total: 25]
